AMUSEMENTS.

Few, if any, players have gained so much prominence as that fascinating little actress, Dainty May Sargent, who will be seen at the Grand Opera House on next Friday night, and who graduated at the Rideau St. Convent, in Ottawa, Canada, where she was a student for three or four years and President of the English Girl's Dramatic Entertainments. Miss Sargent made her professional debut with Madame Mod-jeska, and is now scoring heavily in "Other People's Money." The following tribute was paid her by a prominent American newspaper critic on her performance in this play last season:

"To see her is to love her,
And to love her but forever,
For nature made her what she is
And ne'er made sic another."

Doubtless the many friends and admirers of Miss Sargent will read with interest her success since she left Ottawa. She comes of an old theatrical family. Her father, Harry
M. Sargent, brought Madame Rhea to America and managed her successful tours, and was afterwards a prominent lessee of a theatre in England. Her mother was an accomplished actress and appeared with Madame Modjeska several seasons. Miss Sargent appears in the role of "Tielka Van Sittard," and her gowns are said to be the epitome of her modiste's (Madame Giannini, of New York City) skill.

WITHDRAWS.—Judge Robert J. Breckinridge has withdrawn from the race for Governor. In a letter written to State Chairman Young he said he had been advised by friends that he could not win the nomination at the May primary, and he had no disposition to maintain a hopeless contest, and lose the fight.

CLOVER IS VALUABLE.

It is Not Only an Excellent Food for Swine But Also the Best of Land Feeders.

One of the grasses that will prove beneficial and profitable to every farmer who can grow it is clover. It is not only an excellent food for swine for both health and growth, but it is a land feeder or fertilizer, says a writer in American Swineherd. But few farmers understand the advantages that come from growing clover outside of its feeding value. The productiveness of the farm can be maintained or improved by the growing of clover. Every farmer should exert himself to provide fields of clover. It is not only a good hog feed, but it is equally as good for sheep and cattle, and the very best hay for young calves. A good many farmers have used clover hay for feeding hogs in winter season, running it through a cutter and mixing it into a thick slop as a balancer of the ration and distender of the stomach, preventing compacting of the concentrated feeds. The advantages of clover as a food are that they give the pigs that succulence that is so desirable to provide the smooth coats and rapid growth that come from feeding it. It is a balancer of the ration of grain, which cheapens the feed and lessens the cost of producing pork. It is not only good for the feed value, but because of the advantages in combining it with a grain ration which enables more to be got from the grain than otherwise would. Besides the growth and gain that comes from feeding it, is the fact that it is highly relished by the swine and productive of better health. It keeps the bowels in good order, prevents constipation, and is, therefore, a very valuable hog feed.

ALWAYS BE REGULAR.

A Point in Hog Feeding Whose Importance is Not as Well Understood as It Should Be.

To be most successful at raising hogs we should feed regularly, not one day early in the morning and the next day in the middle of the forenoon. No matter how many times a day nor what we feed, let it be at the same hours every day. It is natural for a hog to rest at night time, and digestion and assimilation of food will go on better if they are fed regularly and before dark.

There are a great many farmers who think "a hog is a hog" and of little consequence as far as profit is concerned, hence they let him "root hog or die," and if he does not do as well as they expect, or as well as the hogs of their neighbors, they blame the breed or the one who sold them the pigs, never taking into consideration that, if they had given the hog a show, fed him with some regularity and on such food as would have kept his system in good condition, he would have been a profitable animal. As a hog grows older and heavier, it requires not only more food to make a pound of gain, but more to sustain the weight that it already has. So, if not gaining, you would better get them off your hands as soon as possible.

In feeding hogs the important point is to give just enough and no more. This sometimes may be a little difficult to do. What is eaten up clean, with indication that, if more were given, it would be eaten, is the test of what is just the right quantity. A little careful observation will soon make the test easily understood. — Midland Farmer.

CONVENIENT HOG CHUTE.

Entrance Plank is Adjustable So as to Meet All Variations in Height of Wagons.

This chute is 8 feet long and 2 feet and 4 inches wide. The posts at the bow end are 3 feet long and at high end 3 feet and 6 inches long. Bottom is entirely surrounded with a belt of 6-inch boards, while top is confined as shown

DETAILS OF HOG CHUTE.

In illustration. Posts are of 2x4 stuff and ribs on side are 1x4. Tall posts have holes bored every 6 inches from bottom up to one-half their height. These holes should be 1/2 inch. Holes a, No. 1, should be bored about 4 inches from bottom for cross bolt. Bottom plank is a foot long and 2 feet wide and should be 2 inches thick at one end; a, No. 2, straps of iron pass around the end, just leaving loop enough to take cross bolt, a, No. 2, put plank inside, insert the bolt as in a, No. 1. Insert cross bolt at other end at any desired height. Wagons are not all the same in height, so the plank being adjustable will nicely meet the variations. — Farm and Home.

Record in Sheep Growing.
A Missouri sheep grower has made a record which stands near the top, if it is not ahead of all others. Spring before last his 43 Shropshire ewes dropping 85 lambs, among which were seven sets of triplets, 28 sets of twins and eight single lambs. He lost six by death and killed two for his personal use. The remaining 77 lambs were set run on wheat and other pasture last fall, and later were fed on about 20 bushels of corn, to put them in marketable condition. When sold they averaged 103 pounds each, and were reported "fat as butter," selling at $625, the best price in a year or more at Kansas City. — Wool, Markets and Sheep.

EVERYBODY GOT A PRIZE.

Novel Euchre Party, Which Ended Satisfactorily to Everybody Who Had Played.

The Long Island society. Daughters of the Revolution, enjoys the distinction of having conducted a progressive euchre contest, at which every one present received a prize and everybody was satisfied, says the Brooklyn Eagle.

The company was mainly confined to members of the society, and in the cards issued for the occasion the request was made that each one desiring to participate would contribute a prize not to exceed in value 25 cents. Although the price limitation was not strictly adhered to, the souvenirs were for the most part of articles of feminine use or for ornament. The players, according to the number of games they had scored, made their selection at haphazard from a collection of paper enveloped articles. The fun came when the voluminous wrappings were removed and a hat pin, a bonbon dish, coffee spoon, tray, photo frame, book, bit of china, top or trinket was disclosed. Considerable ingenuity was displayed in wrapping up the prizes, so that no hint was given of the contents of the package. The cleverest bit of deception in this way was the inclosing bonbon dish in a cracker box bearing the name of a popular brand and looking as if the original contents had never been disturbed.

CENSUS COMPARISONS.

Cost of Securing Information Something Over a Century Ago and at Present Time.

The differences between the cost of securing the returns from the six simple questions asked in 1790, and that of the extended inquiry made a century later, is illustrated by the per capita cost, which in 1790 was 1.13 cents, and in 1900 15.5 cents, says Director W. R. Merriam, in "The Evolution of Census-Taking" in Century. In 1790 Virginia was the most populous state in the union, having 747,610 inhabitants. The records of the treasury department show that at the first census the cost of making the enumeration in that state was $7,553.90. Moreover, at that enumeration the underpaid assistant marshals supplied their own blanks, an item which was of considerable importance in the days when all paper was made laboriously by hand. In 1900 the population of Maine — about 700,000 — most nearly approximated that of Virginia in 1790. At the twelfth census the cost of actual enumeration in Maine, including the pay of supervisors, was $34,560.90, or more than three-fourths of the amount expended for the enumeration of the entire United States in 1790, though the pay of an enumerator in 1900 did not exceed the wages of an intelligent day laborer.

SPARROWS ARE SMART BIRDS.

How Some of Them Took Their Corn to a Novel Mill to Be Ground.

"The sparrow is certainly a knowing bird," said a man who is employed at the Girard Point grain elevators, according to the Philadelphia Record. "He can figure out a thing for himself in a way that is astonishing. Down around the elevators there are thousands of them who feed on the grains of wheat that fall to the ground, but recently we haven't been getting any wheat. In fact, for some time past we haven't been handling anything but corn. Now, a kernel of corn is rather too large for a sparrow to swallow, but just the same I watched a lot of them picking up the kernels the other day and what do you suppose they did with them? You will hardly believe me when I tell you, but it's gospel truth. Each sparrow flew over to the railroad and carefully deposited his kernel of corn on the rail. Then they all hopped around and chattered until a shifting engine came along. After it had passed the corn was ground into meal and the sparrows ate it. Don't tell me a sparrow hasn't any brains."

GOVERNMENT IRRIGATION.

Thousands of Farms Reclaimed from the Arid Lands of the West.

The far-reaching plans for irrigation of the arid west through the assistance of the powerful national government are slowly turning into facts, says the Minneapolis Journal. Recently a contract was let for a dam across the Snake river in Idaho that, with two large main ditches, will reclaim 340,000 acres of fertile land. It is well known that a 40-acre irrigated farm is equivalent in production to a 100-acre nonirrigated farm. On that basis the Snake river reclamation will provide 8,500 farms, or, probably, homes for about 50,000 people, and the villages and cities will have from 25,000 to 50,000 more. And all this will come from the watering of only 340,000 acres! And before Uncle Sam is through with his big job he will turn water onto 100,000,000 acres.

Titled American Girls.

Twenty-six German titles are worn by American girls who have married abroad and 20 English peerages. There are three French duchesses and five French countesses of American birth. Seventeen Italian noblemen and six "Russians of title" have laid their claims at the feet of American brides. Holland has two baronesses. American born: Bavaria, one countess; and the sovereign princess of Monaco makes the list.

DYE THEIR OWN PRODUCT.

Silkworms of Various Shades Developed by Recent Experiments in France.

The following report is made by United States Consul Atwell at Roubaix: Messrs. Conte and Levrat have recently been making experiments with silkworms, which have resulted, it is said, in the production of cocoons of varied shades, reports the Philadelphia Record.

The ordinary cocoon is white, yellow, or sometimes green. The question to be solved is why different colors should be produced by similar species, and whether it is the direct result of the food taken by the worm. If this coloring matter comes from the leaves fed to the worms, Messrs. Conte and Levrat considered that it should be easy to color their food artificially and thus secure different shades of cocoons, though several naturalists have attempted to prove the impossibility of coloring matter passing from the intestines of the worm into the silk-producing glands.

The worms which served for their experiments were placed on branches of privet, washed over with red. They ate the leaves without prejudice, and when the larvae began to spin the cocoon the silk was a bright red. When fed on leaves colored blue, the silk worms produced a slightly bluish silk. The species that produces ordinarily a yellow cocoon, when fed upon leaves colored red, brings forth a deep orange. The original yellow, it is said, is due to the pigment in the leaves of the mulberry.

FAST RAILROAD TALKERS.

Tell About Swift Rides on the Rail and "Hit It Up" at a Great Rate.

A group of railroad men in New Orleans were talking about the fastest rides they ever experienced, says the Times-Democrat. One man in relating his experiences, said: "Across bayous and through marshes we rushed like mad. When we reached the Rigolets the most remarkable thing I ever saw took place. The train was traveling so fast it sucked the water up behind it as it rushed across the trestle, and I could hear the fishes groan as we flew over this neck of the gulf. Most remarkable thing I ever saw in the way of fast runs." And he lapsed into silence. "I am glad you reminded me of that run," said another member of the group. "I had forgotten the incident. I can vouch for all you say, for I was on the back end of the last coach, and the water which was sucked in behind the train by the vacuum almost washed me overboard, but I held on all right, and when we made the crossing and the waters had receded, I picked up on the platform of the rear coach the finest bunch of fish I ever saw. They were no doubt the last that heard groaning."

SEES FOR SIGHTLESS EYES.

Young Woman in New York Who Paints Word Pictures for Her Blind Employer.

The person who is blind loses much of the beautiful in life through the affliction. There is one woman, however, in New York city who, having means, finds a way to satisfy her taste for a knowledge of all that is going on. This she accomplishes with the help of a companion of the same sex, but much younger (the woman herself is 77 years old), who takes her from place to place, explaining everything.

Thus an afternoon at an art exhibition results in both coming away with an excellent idea of the most notable canvases. The architecture of the various new buildings is described at length; the bindings and illustrations of late books are laid before the mind of the afflicted one with much circumstance.

Even the new operatic and dramatic events are attended with great regularity, and the costumes, forms and faces of the performers are described in the fullest detail; the scenery and properties are the subject of comment, and the people in the audience furnish material for discussion between the acts.

In traveling, says the New York Mail and Express, the companion is the same faithful painter of pictures for the sightless eyes of her employer, and every feature that goes to give that variety which seems a necessary spice to living is brought out with the utmost particularity.

BLUE JAYS HUNT SNAKES.

The Birds Have a Very Strong Antipathy Toward All Venomous Reptiles.

It is commonly supposed that all birds, at least those of the small species, fall easy victims to snakes. There are stories innumerable of the manner in which the reptiles charm the feathered creatures and end by swallowing them at a gulp. But there is one bird that is not susceptible to the fascination of his snake's eye, and that is the common blue jay, found in the woods all over the United States, says the Chicago Chronicle.

A gentleman who has lived for many years in the country asserts positively that the blue jay can speak at least one word as plainly as a human being and that word is "snake." "When a boy," he said recently, "I killed many snakes that would have escaped but for the sharp eyes of the blue jay. Some species of reptiles will climb small trees and bushes and trap their prey in that manner. They feed on small birds principally. But they never catch a jaybird. He is the snake detective for the whole bird family. As soon as a blue jay sees a snake he sounds the alarm. You can hear him squall a quarter of a mile, and he articulates the word 'snake' as plainly as I can. He will hop about on a limb and yell 'snake! snake!' in such a thrill, excited voice that pretty soon others of his tribe hasten to the scene, and all join in giving the alarm. All other birds, hearing this warning cry, fly away, but the blue jay splits his throat with cries until the enemy has disappeared.

"A snake once caught a blue jay by charming him. The jay yelled 'Snake! snake!' at the top of his voice. Several hundred blue jays flew to his rescue and pecked the snake's eyes out, and literally picked him to pieces, thus saving the life of their companion. Ever since that time the blue jay, upon seeing a snake, gives the alarm and all blue jays within hearing will hasten to the scene and lend their voices to the warning. This may sound incredible, but it's true," said the narrator in conclusion. "Not at all, but it's a good story to forget under the circumstances," added the nervous young man, who at once proposed the consideration of the relation of the jocund grape to the doctrine of metempsychosis.

SPINSTERS HAVE A UNION.

Bachelor Girls of Advanced Age Propose to Abolish the Male Celibates.

The spinsters of Adams county, Pennsylvania, with headquarters at York, have recently been forming old maid societies to engage in various social diversions calculated to attract the bachelors, reports an eastern exchange.

At Gardner's Station the Old Maids' union held a left-hand social recently, at which all the old maid societies of the county were represented. The social was held at the home of Rev. Mr. Rhoades and Miss Ida Rhoades was assisted in receiving by Miss Aggie Zeigler and Miss Rebecca Myers. The guests were required to receive the refreshments with the left hand, the right hand of each guest being tied behind her.

These resolutions were unanimously adopted: "Whereas, the need of a good husband has long been felt as a pressing necessity, and repeated efforts have been made to induce the legislature of Pennsylvania to enact a law that would compel all bachelors throughout the commonwealth to marry; therefore:

"Resolved by the Old Maid society of Gardner's Station. That we do hereby most earnestly request (not our present representatives of Adams county to use their best efforts and cast their vote for the enactment of a law that will compel all bachelors to marry, but) all men between ages of 28 and 45, who are in hunt of good companions address the secretary, Old Maid Society, Gardner's Station, Pa."

WHEN TRANSLATORS DISAGREE

Three Different Versions of a Carthaginian Inscription Given by as Many Authors.

"The translation of hieroglyphics, cuneiform inscriptions and other writings upon stone," said the antiquary, according to the Philadelphia Record, "is a difficult art, and an odd thing about it is the way different translators will get an altogether different meaning out of the same text. For instance, some time ago Carthaginian inscription was translated by a certain Duviervier:

"Here reposes Hamilcar, father of Hannibal, as much loved by his country as he was formidable to his foes."

"De Sauley studied the inscription and said that this was the proper translation:

"The priestess of Isis has raised this monument in honor of Spring, the Graces and Roses, which charm and fertilize the earth."

"Duviervier and De Sauley wrangled and contended over the inscription and finally agreed to accept as final the judgment of an expert to be mutually agreed on. The expert was chosen and his translation was:

"This altar has been dedicated to the god of the winds and storms, in the hope of appeasing his anger."

Babies of 1903.

The baby born in 1903 has three times a better chance of living through its first year and five times a better chance of living to be five years old than it would have had a dozen years ago.

Women of Up-to-Date Tastes and Habits Preferable to the Old-Fashioned Ones.

"Let old-fashioned people croak as they will," remarked a well-known literary woman lately, says Cassell's Journal, "but in my opinion the modern girl is a great advance on the maidens of a generation ago.

"Freedom and fresh air have made her more self-reliant and healthier in tone. She may be more hoydenish, but she is less hysterical. Instead of working samplers or shedding sickly tears over sentimental novels, she is out and about getting an insight into the world and its ways.

"As a result she makes a good wife, one who can share her husband's tastes, understand his difficulties and act as his chum and partner. The wife of the past was too often a childish, sentimental woman, with so little knowledge of the world, that she was quite helpless if it was her fate to be deprived of her husband's support. But to-day it is not an uncommon thing to find women as capable in business as their husbands."

THE New York World

Thrice-a-Week Edition.

Read Wherever the English Language is Spoken.

The Thrice-a-Week World was a brilliant success in the beginning and has steadily grown ever since. Time is test of all things, and has set its seal of approval on the Thrice-a-Week World, which is widely circulated in every State and Territory of the Union, and wherever there are people who can read our mother tongue.

This paper for the coming winter and the year 1903, will make its news service, if possible, more extensive than ever. All events of importance, no matter where they happen, are reported accurately and promptly.

The subscriber for only one dollar a year, gets three papers every week and more general reading than most great dailies can furnish at five or six times the price.

The Thrice-a-Week World is absolutely fair in its political news. Partisan bias is never allowed to affect its news columns, and Democrat and Republican alike can obtain in its pages truthful accounts of all the great political campaigns.

In addition to all the news, the Thrice-a-Week World furnishes the best serial fiction, elaborate market report and other features of interest.

The Thrice-a-Week World's regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and THE BOURBON NEWS together one year for $2.75.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $3.00.

A NOTICE

The women of Central Kentucky have been led to expect much from Kaufman, Straus & Co. in the matter of Tailor-Made Dresses—and rightly.

We have taught our public to look for lavish variety in Fine, Ready-to-Wear Garments. This season, we, ourselves, are astonished at the assemblage presented. Perhaps we have been carried too far by our enthusiasm over the fine things we have found.

In order to introduce these goods speedily and effectively, we have decided to offer them below their actual value at the very beginning of this season, and thus get our patrons to judge for themselves of the superiority of these fine goods.

The Suits and Dresses we are showing represent the very newest and swellest designs; none of them in the house over ten days, yet they will be reduced to the following prices:

$37 50 and $35 00 Suits will be Sold at $30 00	$22 50 and 20 00 Suits will be Sold at 20 00
32 50 and 30 00 Suits will be Sold at 25 00	27 50 and 25 00 Suits will be Sold at 20 00
22 50 and 20 00 Suits will be Sold at 17 50	18 00 and 17 50 Suits will be Sold at 15 00
16 50 and 15 00 Suits will be Sold at 13 50

The colors are Black, Navy, Royal, Brown and Mixtures. The materials are Cheviots, Cloths, Etamines, Mistral and Veilings. Sizes from 32 to 40. Misses' sizes 14 and 16 years; small-sized ladies can also be fitted from these sizes.

When alterations are necessary, every garment will be made to fit in our own attractive department.

A CONFESSION.

I can't deny it any longer—that I am committing the great crime in Bourbon County—seat of Paris, at the C. O. D. Store, in front of the Court House—the cutting of prices on Dry Goods, Shoes, Hats, Clothing, and everything in the house for ten days. Just that way.

SWIFT CHAMP, EDITOR AND OWNER

DEATHS.

—John P. Gaines, one of the wealthiest citizens of Montgomery county, died Saturday afternoon. He was born in Franklin county in 1850.

—Mrs. Linville, aged 40 years, living on the Peacock turnpike, died yesterday. Her remains will be taken to Millersburg for burial to-day.

—Mrs. Mary Dole died at her home in this city, Sunday night at 11 o'clock. She was the wife of John B. Dole and had one son and four daughters living. She was the mother of Thos. and Daniel Roche, now deceased. The funeral services will be held from the Catholic church, to-morrow (Wednesday) morning at 9 o'clock.

THE PANAMA HAT.—Panama hats will be worn this Summer, but not in such unusual shapes, nor will they be as costly. The most popular straw hats will be low crowned and wide-brimmed sailors. Dealers declare that very dressy men do not buy extreme shapes.

BIRTHS.

—A daughter arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Day, at Covington. Mr. O'Day is a popular conductor on the L. & N. railway, and married Miss Woods, of Cynthia.

LIVE STOCK, CROP, ETC.

—R. A. Harris sold at Richmond to Newland Jones 23 shoats, averaging 125 pounds, at 7c.

—E. B. Sparks sold to the Paris Milling Co., 1,500 bushels of No. 2 wheat at 75c per bushel.

—The Paris Milling Co., have purchased of E. B. Sparks, 1,500 bushel No. 2 wheat at 75 cents per bushel.

—Turney Bros., of this county, won a race Saturday, with Mand Conne, at St. Louis, the odds being 5 to 1.

—Capt. S. S. Brown, the Pittsburg coal king, bought of Clay & Woodford, of Paris, eight choice yearlings, for $25,000.

—The Madison County Tobacco Growers' Association was organized at Richmond. Every farmer present at the meeting signed the contract of the Kentucky Association.

—Brent Bros., purchased of Malcom Boswell, his crop of growing hemp, 20 acres, at $5 per 112 pounds. C. B. Eaton, Jr., sold 26,000 pounds of hemp, at $5.50 per long hundred.

—Mr. W. H. Edwards, Jr., of Versailles, sold 106 ewes with 120 lambs, to Mr. John Jones, of Scott county, for $605. Mr. Nat Wilson sold to Mr. Chas. Nuckols 84 sheep with 85 lambs for $495.

—Henry Stevens & Son, well known New York breeders of Holstein cattle, have recently paid $4,000 for the 9-week-old bull calf out of Sadie Vale Concordia, the cow that established new records for 7 and 30 days' production of milk and butter.

—At Owensville court, Chas. Meng, of North Middletown, bought a mare for $125; Hughes, of Paris, bought a pair of brown mare mules for $235 and a horse mule for $97.50; Fletcher Mann, of Paris, bought a mature mule for $110; a yearling mule was sold for $32.50, and resold for $62.50.

—John Finzer & Bros., the Louisville branch of the Continental Tobacco Company, have consigned 300 pounds of the best mixed plug Kentucky smoking tobacco to be obtained in the State to the Ziegler Polar Expedition, which is arranging shortly to journey to the North Pole.

—A very remarkable freak of nature is reported by Geo. T. Beckett, of Mt. Carmel. One day last week he had a mare to give birth to twins, one a mare colt and the other a mare mule. Both were living at last reports. The mare had been bred to Jas. A. Yantis' horse and jack, —Flemingsburg Democrat.

Twenty-one of the best hens in this country have sailed from San Francisco to engage in an egg-laying contest with Australian hens, which will continue for one year. Their expenses were paid by the Australian government, which will buy the six best at $25 apiece. The others will be sold there at public auction.

SEED OATS.—Just received a car-load of choice Northern seed oats.
GEO. W. STUART.A GOOD MOTTO.—Davis & Farris are doing four times more business now than they did the first month they opened. The reason is fair dealing and good groceries.

CUPID'S ARROW.

—The Lexington Leader says: The marriage of Miss Rosa Hall, of the county, to Mr. John T. Clark, of Paris, will take place Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, at Lakeview, the home of Captain and Mrs. J. D. Yarrington. Miss Mary Belle Yarrington will be maid of honor and Mr. Robert Clark, of Paris the best man. The bridesmaids chosen are: Miss Ethel Smith, Miss Mary Clark, of Paris, and the groomsmen, Mr. Fred Yarrington, Mr. James Hamilton, Mr. James Hamilton, of Newport, Kentucky.

CHURCH CHIMES.

—Rev. H. H. Tandy will preach in the Baptist church next Sunday morning and evening.

—Prof. Hagerman, of Lexington, filled the pulpit at the Christian church, Sunday morning and night.

—Rev. McDonald, of Danville, preached two interesting sermons at the First Presbyterian church, in this city, Sunday.

—Yesterday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, Bishop Lewis W. Burton, of Lexington, confirmed a class at St. Peter's Episcopal church, in this city.

—The Southern Methodist Women's Foreign Mission Society reports 1,200 new members and a large increase in offerings.

—After an investigation the Rev. Dr. Joseph S. Felix says that Louisville has proportionately smaller Sunday-schools than there are in any other American city.

—The Rev. J. E. Wright, who resigned at Mt. Sterling to promote the Oklahoma Indian Territory Land Company, writes: "My purpose is to preach when strength and opportunity will allow. On or about the 15th or 20th of May I expect to hold a camp-meeting near Lindsay. Prof. Fogg will have charge of the music."

—Rev. J. L. Webber, D. D., of Winchester, occupied the pulpit at the Methodist church, in this city, Sunday morning and night. Dr. Webber is a gifted divine and his sermons are always listened to with much attention.

The Interurban.

Work of laying rails on the Lexington and Paris electric road will begin this week if the weather continues favorable.

Everything is ready now for rail laying. The ties have been delivered, the poles are on the ground, the grading is practically completed and the rest of the work will be pushed with all possible rapidity.

It is the endeavor of the contractors to get the sub-power houses up and the cars running on this line by August 1st at the latest.

DAMAGE SUIT.—The following dispatch is from Friday's Enquirer:

"Mrs. Jane Jameson Gregg, a former society belle of Paris Ky., and recently divorced wife of George M. Gregg, of this city, Thursday, sued her mother-in-law, Mrs. Sarah Gregg, for $10,000 damages, charging the alienation of her husband's affections. It is alleged in the complaint that Mrs. Gregg jealously hated her son's bride, and tried in every way to poison his mind against her. On several occasions, the plaintiff claims, she was excluded from her husband's sick room by orders of the defendant, who expressed a fear that she would poison him. The plaintiff, fearing trouble under his mother's roof, tried to get her husband to fit up a house elsewhere, but the defendant, who is quite wealthy, thwarted this plan with threats of disinheritance. In the recent divorce trial Mrs. Gregg was given judgment for $4,000 alimony."

Presbyterian General Assembly Trip To Los Angeles.

A mob at Joplin, Mo., broke into the jail, and securing a negro suspected of murdering a policeman, hanged him to a telegraph pole. Before the work was accomplished, there was a severe tug of war, law-abiding citizens pulling back on the negro's end of the rope in an effort to save him. The mob leaders at the free end proved the stronger.

A GOOD POLICY.—Quality as well as quantity—the best and most for your money—is the plan at 21-2t TRIMBLE'S CASH GROCERY.

THAT'S THE NEWS.—The Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage says: "A newspaper whose columns overflow with the advertisements of business men has more influence in attracting attention to and building up a city of town than any other agency that can be employed. People go where there is business. Capital and labor will locate where there is enterprising community. No power on earth is so strong to build up a town as a newspaper well patronized, and this power should be appreciated."

SEE US.—Our refrigerators, our furniture, wall papers, carpets, baby carriages, etc., are of the best manufacturers—prices low as any reputable dealer. We make it worth your while to visit our store before buying.

The Latest News.

The man arrested at Miami, Fla., for impersonating Gov. Beckham, has been adjudged insane and taken to an asylum.

Three girls who had escaped from the State Reform School at Greendale, were captured in a box car at Williamstown. At Cynthiana, Levi Fisher, while feeling the effects of a spree, committed suicide by jumping off an iron bridge. Aged 25 years.

Three persons perished in a terrible wreck at Red House, N. Y. One of the victims was a child.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—Elmer Boardman, of near Little Rock, this county, met with a serious accident yesterday, while on his way to Mt. Sterling, by his horse running away and throwing him from the vehicle. His leg was broken in two places. He is a brother of J. U. Boardman, of this city.

LOOK IN THE WINDOW.—See the go-carts in our display window. The baby's health requires a daily outing—get a cart and rest is easy.
J. T. HINTON.

Property Purchased.

Sullivan & Congleton, of this city, wholesale lumber dealers, have purchased the Lexington Canning Factory and will convert it into a planing mill. The price paid for the building and five acres of ground was $3,000. The firm will make a specialty of handling dressed lumber and will ship throughout Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

The firm have plants in Paris and Winchester and two in the Eastern Kentucky mountains.

For the past year the old canning factory has been used as a storage and packing house.

They Are Coming.

New customers are coming to us every day—good goods and reasonable prices are bringing them. We pay cash for eggs.
DAVIS & PARIS,
Opp. Opera House.

NEW FLAT.—Mr. J. A. Stern, the progressive proprietor of the Fair Store, has had a flat constructed over his place of business for living purposes and has moved into the same.

NO NEGROES.—At Mt. Sterling, Saturday, twenty-five applicants for the four rural free delivery routes were examined. Among the number were three negroes. The patrons of the routes these negroes have applied for are greatly incensed, and the assertion that if appointed they will not be permitted to serve, is not uncommon.

HAVE YOU ONE?—Every housekeeper should have a Home Telephone. It places you in speaking distance with the grocer, physician and your neighbors.

Grand Opera House Leased.

The Grand Opera House, in this city, was yesterday leased for a term of years to D. C. and E. S. Wiggins, of Richmond, Ky.

The new management will assume control of the house in August, and their lease is for three years.

The Messrs. Wiggins have for some time managed the New Opera House, in Richmond, and are thoroughly conversant with all the details pertaining to the management of a local theatre. They will go direct to New York, where they say they will book the very best attractions obtainable for this city.

It is with a feeling of regret that the people of Paris see Mr. Porter give up the management of the Grand, as during the three years he has had charge of it he has given our people a class of attractions seldom if ever seen in a town of this size. He has worked hard to please the theatre-going public and deserves a large amount of credit. If the new lessees of the Grand do as well as Mr. Porter they will well deserve the patronage of our people.

Shoe Styles for Spring.

Shiny Leathers, such as Patent Kid, Patent Colt, &c., are still very popular, and are much more reliable than formerly.

Higher heels are fashionable this season. The high leather "Cuban" heels and wood "French" heels are seen on a great many of the fine shoes for ladies' wear.

A very pretty Lace Shoe, for women, seen at Clay's Shoe Store is made of Patent Colt, with a medium, round toe, 1½-inch "Cuban" heel and dull "Mat Kid" top. It is a beauty, and sells at $3.00.

A beautiful Oxford, for women, also seen at Clay's Shoe Store, is made of Patent Kid front part, dull "Mat Kid" quarter; 1½-inch square metallic heel and welt extension soles. They have extra large eyelets, using a large ribbon lace, and it makes an extremely pretty street shoe. They sell for $3.00 a pair.

What MITCHELL Says

The Home-Made Candy season has closed. I won't make any more until next Fall. I wish to thank the people for a very generous patronage on my Candy and hope we may all eat it again next season.

I have just gotten a fresh lot of the fine "Venetian" Chocolates, and if you have bought any of it, you know how fine it is.

This is the finest line of Chocolates I have ever seen.

I have opened my Soda Fountain, and am trying to put out better goods than I have ever done before.

When you want the real thing in Ice Cream Soda, you know where I am.

WONDERFUL PROGRESS

Status of Development of Great-est of Expositions.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS AT ST. LOUIS

How Another "City of White" is Rising in Its Wealth and Splendor to Attract Millions of Visitors. Mammoth Palaces For the Exhibits.

It's a good afternoon's work to make even a cursory survey of the World's Fair grounds at St. Louis. What one may see is the mere exterior of a vast exposition. It has taken a deal of energy and thoughtful planning to get the great project under way.

One who is far from the scene of this great work has little thought of the tremendous tasks of grading and underground work. There must be water pipes to every part of the grounds, both for daily use and for emergency in case of fire. There must be conduits for the hundreds of miles of electric wires used both for telegraph and telephone service. There

LIBERAL ARTS BUILDING. must be many miles of drains and sewers in order that the highest condition of sanitation may be obtained. But this work has nearly all been done.

The system of railway tracks, too, reaching the site of every big building, is no small problem in engineering. The grounds are approximately one mile wide by two miles long, containing 1,180 acres. The number of large exhibit buildings is 15, containing from 4,000,000 to 12,000,000 feet of lumber each and hundreds of tons of plaster, to say nothing of the thousands of pounds of steel, iron, bolts, nails, glass and other materials. The thousands of carloads of materials of every kind must be brought in when wanted, so that the railway business of an exposition is one of its most important details.

Eleven of the large exhibit buildings are under contract or finished. The Palace of Education is done. In it Kentucky will make a display covering 2,500 square feet. The Palaces of Electricity and Varied Industries are ELECTRICITY BUILDING. practically completed. The other palaces under construction are the manufacturers, machinery, art, liberal arts, agriculture, transportation, mines and metallurgy, and the United States Government building. The contracts for other buildings will be let within a short time.

Throughout these vast grounds one finds the greatest activity. The heavy task of grading for the foundations of the $1,000,000 group of art palaces was one of the important contracts. These three great palaces, counted as one in eleven, stand upon an eminence 60 feet above the general level of the main group of buildings. Including the court, they occupy more than eight acres. The northern front of the three buildings is 828 feet. The central building, which is of permanent, fire-proof construction, has a frontage of 348 feet and a depth of 166 feet. The two side buildings are 200 by 422 feet.

Another grading contract of stupendous proportions was that which preceded the construction of the Hall of Agriculture. This great building, like the Palace of Art, is on high TRANSPORTATION BUILDING. ground. It will stand well apart from the "main picture," as the principal group of the buildings is called. Its vast dimensions entitle it to more than ordinary consideration, hence the favorable and commanding site. It will cover more than 18 acres. Expressed in feet, the Hall of Agriculture is 500 by 1,000, the distance around it being nearly four-fifths of a mile. The exterior walls are to be 50 feet high, and the design will be accentuated with towers and other features.

Directly south of the Hall of Agriculture will stand the Horticulture building, 400 by 800 feet. Gardens and terraces made beautiful in every way known to the art of the landscape architect will surround both these great buildings, the entire area devoted to these two departments being 67 acres.

Kentucky exhibits will occupy 12,000 square feet of space in the Agricultural building and 3,000 square feet in the Horticulture building.

Besides the greater exhibit palaces will be hundreds of state and foreign buildings and the smaller structures for many purposes. Thousands of men will be employed the season through, and all will be in readiness well in advance of the opening day next year.

ROAD AND FARM IMPROVEMENT

POISON DISTRIBUTOR.

The Invention of a Texas Man Who Believes in Wholesale Fighting of Insects.

It is a comparatively simple task to apply insect exterminators to a small patch of potatoes or other growing vegetables, but when the work must be done on a large scale to protect a field covering acres of ground the cost of the operation often absorbs the profit of the crop. The introduction of machinery for agricultural work has considerably reduced the expense of planting and harvesting the enormous crops raised on some farms, by doing away with hand labor, and it is the intention of Edward Zedlitz, of Paige, Tex., to also reduce the cost of destroying the insects which infest growing plants by the use of his new poison distributor.

In the drawing the machine is shown in operation, with one plant bent forward to permit a discharge of the powder to the under surface of the leaves. The machine has a faculty of applying the poison in the form of either a liquid or powder, and the spraying nozzles and bender can be adjusted to treat plants of different heights. The reservoir for containing the poison is sealed after the powder or liquid has been placed inside, and an air compressor geared to one of the wheels forces air into the reservoir and out through the spraying nozzles. If a powder is used the movement of the air inside the chamber sets the dust aloft and blows it out through the pipes, while a liquid can be driven out by compression. A safety valve is provided to reduce the force should the air pressure inside the chamber become too high or the compressor may be disconnected for a time.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

ROADS AND SCHOOLS.

Improved Country Highways Mean Better Education for the Farmer's Boys and Girls.

One of the most beneficial results of road improvement is the facility it gives to consolidate country schools and thus concentrate our children into central buildings, so making graded schools possible in our country districts. In traveling around the state we have noticed that where improved roads exist the children, by means of bicycles, easily go long distances to central schools; thus graded roads make possible graded schools, the improved roads working in harmony with the state education law, giving the children of the rural districts the same advantages as those residing in cities. In one year 44 Connecticut towns, by means of improved roads, were enabled to give free transportation to a large number of their pupils. Forty-four small schools were closed and 849 children rode to the central schools. The cost of transportation was about $12,000, but a gross amount of some $20,000 was saved, leaving a net saving of some $8,000. This saving was only a small part of the benefit derived, for it resulted in a better attendance and better schools. This close coordination between improved roads and education cannot be too strongly impressed upon the public attention.—N. Y. Tribune-Farmer.

The Return of the Birds.

The farmers' friends, the birds, will soon be here to renew their labors of home life and love, and at the same time help in the destruction of insects, and later on weed seeds. That farmer who does not permit them or their nests to be disturbed, and whose farm is not too finely cleared, is apt to possess the advantage of having the greater number. A tangled thicket in a fence corner, an old choke or wild cherry tree, bushes that bear wild berries, will make the farm attractive to them. It would seem that most bird houses are placed too near the house for the wilder birds to occupy, but if they were nailed up here and there in the orchards or fields, they would soon be tenanted by these little workers in the farmers' interest.—Farm Journal.

Red Clover Is Invaluable.

Red clover is valuable for the abundance of pasture it produces and for its nitrogen, as well as containing a large proportion of starchy matter, it is one of the best balanced foods used, and is also highly relished by all kinds of stock. In addition to promoting a large flow of milk from cows, it is unexcelled as pasture for hogs. Its value as a fertilizer is also admitted, and many farmers grow it for that purpose as well as for food.

FREE TRIPS TO ST. LOUIS FOR THE 120 MOST POPULAR SCHOOL TEACHERS IN THE STATE PAID.

member of faculty of academy, college or university, medical, dental or theological institution, protestant or catholic denominational school, is eligible to election. Members of the Educational Exhibit Committee alone excepted.

Names of all school children voting to be enrolled in the Kentucky Building at the Exposition. Kentucky will have an educational exhibit occupying 2,500 square feet of space in the Palace of Education. The Exposition is to be the greatest international event in the world's history. The 120 teachers chosen will be lucky indeed in being tendered this trip to the Fair. Every county elects its own most popular educator. The county outside of Jefferson casting the largest number of votes will be allowed to send two teachers—the most popular and the second most popular.

THE VOTES WILL BE TEN CENTS EACH, TEN CONSTITUTING A BALLOT.

At ten cents each every school child in the State will be able to cast at least one vote for his or her favorite teacher. But the voting will not be confined to school children.

PARENTS OF PUPILS OR ANY OF THEIR FRIENDS MAY VOTE. The purpose of the Association being to elect the most popular school teacher in each county, as so considered by the public generally, as well as by the school children. The lots contain ten spaces, so that of ten pupils may be arranged and each giving ten cents be credited with his or her vote. If one person desires to cast ten votes, it may be done by writing his or her name on one of the spaces and remitting one dollar. It is not required that the name of the person voting be given at all. All of the spaces for voters' names may be left blank. The Association wants, however, to enroll in the Kentucky Building at St. Louis next year the name of every child who can vote or more votes in the contest. Pupils are asked therefore to sign their names plainly to the ballots.

ALL EXPENSES OF THE TEACHERS WILL BE PAID BY THE ASSOCIATION. This will include railroad transportation from Louisville to St. Louis and return, board at one of the best hotels in the city for six days and admission to the exposition grounds for six days.

THREE PARTIES WILL BE MADE UP FROM THE MOST POPULAR TEACHERS to make the trip most profitable and more enjoyable. Each of these parties will consist of forty (40) teachers. This would make a total of 120 teachers, but as there are only 119 counties in Kentucky, the Association has decided to allow two teachers—the most popular and the second most popular—to go from that county—Jefferson excepted—which casts the greatest number of votes in the contest.

ALL TEACHERS IN THE STATE STAND ON AN EQUAL FOOTING in this contest. The teacher with only twenty pupils may receive more votes than the teacher with five or six times as many enrolled in his or her school, because the voting is not confined to children. The public will be an important factor.

Votes may be cast for any person who taught school during 1902 or is teaching now. This gives the teacher of a five months' school, which closed in November or December, the opportunity to be voted for during the vacation period.

ANY NUMBER OF BALLOTS MAY BE CAST AT ONE TIME. There is no limit. The more dollars sent in for any one teacher the more votes he or she will be credited with.

ONE DOLLAR CASTS TEN VOTES; TWO DOLLARS CASTS TWENTY VOTES; THREE DOLLARS CASTS THIRTY VOTES; FOUR DOLLARS CASTS FORTY VOTES; FIVE DOLLARS CASTS FIFTY VOTES; TEN DOLLARS CASTS A HUNDRED VOTES; ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS CASTS ONE THOUSAND VOTES.

All of the money received in this contest, over and above that used in defraying expenses of the 120 most popular teachers of the State to the World's Fair, will go for the benefit of a Kentucky Building at the exposition; so every voter in this contest may have the additional satisfaction of knowing that he has added a worthy cause.

THE STANDING OF THE CONTENTANTS WILL BE PRINTED FREQUENTLY in each county to show his or her friends how the race is being run. Begin by telling now for your favorite school teacher. The votes will be counted under the supervision of the Educational Exhibit Committee of the Association. The personnel of this committee is as follows: Prof. L. C. Brownell, Louisville, Chairman; Prof. H. V. McCleskey, Louisville; Prof. R. E. Haddock, Louisville; Prof. W. H. Bartholomew, Louisville; Prof. F. Paul Anderson, Lexington; Dr. Chase Palmer, Danville; President William Dinwiddie, Jackson; Dr. W. G. Frost, Berea; Dr. B. B. Huntton, Louisville; Dr. E. Y. Mullins, Louisville; Dr. Arthur Yager, Georgetown; Superintendent M. A. Cassidy, Lexington; Superintendent S. L. Froge, Frankfort; Prof. C. J. Crabbe, Ashland; Prof. McHenry Rhoads, Owensboro; Prof. T. S. Allen, Bellevue; Prof. C. C. Cherry, Bowling Green; Prof. Enos Spencer, Louisville; Miss Pattie S. Hill, Louisville; Mrs. Emily E. Bracken, Louisville; and Mrs. B. B. Tucker, Louisville. Members of the Educational Committee are not eligible to election in this contest.

REMEMBER EVERY COUNTY ELECTS ITS OWN FAVORITE TEACHER. Competition between counties only applies to the race for the 120th trip, the county outside of Jefferson, casting the largest total number of votes being granted the distinction of sending a teacher to the Fair. The result will be announced in every paper in the state, and in addition to this, a congratulatory message will go to the teacher elected in each county. Later the details of the trip will be arranged, each teacher chosen being given the privilege of selecting the month—June, July or August, 1904—in which he or she wants to make the trip.

GOODS ROADS INFORMATION.

Present and Past views of Judge E. H. Thayer, of Ia. Are Worthy of Consideration.

It has been said that progressive movement in any section is like invention in this that when the thought of it is rising in one mind it is also running in many minds; and all the signs of the times tell us that the time is coming for a general forward movement for good roads throughout the union. For ten years the most progressive citizens in all sections of the country have been devising ways and means for the permanent improvement of the public highways and it seems that all good roads reformers are of the same opinion with reference to a general system of cooperation between the government, the states and the counties. Among the present leaders in the good roads reformation is Representative Brownlow, of Tennessee, who recently introduced a bill in congress providing for national cooperation in road improvement.

Judge E. H. Thayer, Clinton, Ia., has just written a letter to Col. Brownlow in which he unhesitatingly approves all the provisions of the bill, and says that he was the presiding officer at the first national good roads convention ever held in this country, Chicago, Ill., 1892. Judge Thayer made a speech at that convention in which he presented a proposition that is practically identical with that running through the Brownlow bill. Among other things he said:

"The constitution provides that 'Congress shall have the power to establish post offices and post roads.' It has appropriated millions of dollars from the public treasury for establishing post offices, but in the last half of the century it has appropriated comparatively nothing for establishing post roads. There is not an inhabitant of Iowa but is entitled to have his mail brought to his home, no matter whether he lives in the country or in the city. It is gratifying to know that the free delivery system is being extended to the small towns although the postmaster general writes that 'enlarging free delivery anything like universal free delivery will have to be postponed until there are better facilities of communication through the rural and sparsely settled districts.' Just so. But must the state and the county and the township be required to make those better facilities by the expenditure of vast sums of money, and then invite the government to put mail carriers on them? This cannot be the meaning of the constitution. To establish post roads must mean something more than merely using the roads for postal service after somebody else has built them.

"Up to the first day of July, 1892, there has been paid into the federal treasury from the sale of Iowa lands the sum of $13,031,900.17. More than half of this amount was for lands sold in 1845. There has been donated to railroads 4,910,937 acres of land. Now then, in the present state of the public mind on the necessity of building good roads, with popular opinion favoring government aid, would it not be a reasonable, proper and legitimate thing for congress to return to Iowa at least an amount equal to one-half of the proceeds derived from the sale of Iowa lands, to be used in establishing post roads in this state? This would give as government aid, in round figures, $6,500,000.

"The older states contributed no lands to the common national fund; but Iowa lands were sold to make up a portion of government expenses which all the states alike ought to have contributed to. When the west, with pardonable enthusiasm, runs wild after railroads, and congress donated almost 5,000,000 acres of the best land the sun ever shown upon to help build those roads in this state, had there been the same interest taken by our people in good roads that there is now, and had the state then asked for a similar amount of lands for road purposes, no doubt congress would have complied with the request. For precisely the same object, but more directly in the interest of the state, let Iowa appeal to congress for an appropriation equivalent to the donation made to the railroads."

STRONG CLOD MASHER.

The Device Here Described Has Several Advantages Over Those in General Use.

Herewith is a cut of view of a stove roller (or clod masher) that I built last season. While it is built in many respects as are all rollers of its kind, by using mower trucks for a foundation, yet it has an advantage over all that I have seen; that is in having a roof of its own, so that it is always in the dry, and shaded from the hot sunshine. With this protection it will last many years longer and is always sharp and ready for use.—E. F. Isley, in Epitome.

Sunday in the Olden Time.

The mother in her best black gown and with her feet stove, if the weather was cold; the father, freshly shaved, in his high black stock and equally uncomfortable tall black hat, and such of the sisters as were at home filled the two broad seats of our wagon, with perhaps one of us youngsters wedged in, though we preferred to walk in good weather. Then the vehicle moved out of the front gate and joined the procession of carriages going in the same direction, impelled by the same pious duty. With the foot stove or without it went luncheons for the noon hour, for the religious exercises were an all day affair, with forenoon and afternoon services, and the Bible class and Sunday school in the interval which the minister took for rest between his sermons. It was not supposed that his hearers needed rest. There were sheds for the vehicles, and the man who was kind to his beasts usually put into his wagon with the family sandwiches a small bag of grain for his team. The services began at half past 10 and were over at half past 3 unless the afternoon sermon was "lengthy," as it was very apt to be.—I. T. Trowbridge in Atlantic.

The Character Scared Him.

David Garrick had a brother in the country who was an idolatrous admirer of his genius. A rich neighbor, a grocer, being about to visit London, this brother insisted on his taking a letter of introduction to the actor. Not being able to make up his mind to visit the great man the first day, the grocer went to the play in the evening and saw Garrick in "Abel Druggier." On his return to the country the brother eagerly inquired respecting the visit he had been so anxious to bring about. "Why, Mr. Garrick," said the good man, "I am sorry to hurt your feelings, but there's your letter. I did not choose to deliver it. I happened to see him when he did not know me, and I saw that he was such a dirty, low lived fellow that I did not like to have anything to do with him."

Intellect and Hair.

"From the color of a man's hair may be learned a good deal in regard to his intellectual ability," says a professor of the University of Lille who has for some months been closely studying the subject. Schoolboys with chestnut hair, he maintains, are likely to be more clever than any other and will generally be found at the head of the class, and in like manner girls with fair hair are likely to be far more studious and bright than girls with dark hair. In mathematics and recitation these boys and girls, he claims, specially excel. On the other hand, he says that boys and girls with brown hair are most likely to attain distinction through their individuality and style and that those with red or auburn hair do not often excel in any respect.

Curiosities About Observatories.

The first recorded observatory was on the top of the temple of Belus. The tomb of Osmadias in Egypt was the second. This last contained a golden astronomical circle 200 feet in diameter. Another at Benares, India, is believed to be almost as ancient as either of the other two. The first in Europe was erected at Cassell in 1561. That of Tycho Brahe at Uraniburg was built in 1576. The Paris observatory dates from 1667, and that of Greenwich is two years older. The one at Nuremberg was built in 1678 and that at Berlin in 1711. The famous Bologna tower was built in 1714. The Stockholm, Utrecht, Copenhagen and Lisbon observatories were built in 1740, 1650, 1656 and 1728 respectively.

Kettle Bridges.

Perhaps the most remarkable bridges in the world are the kettle bridges in Russia and Siberia, of which Cossack soldiers are expert builders. They are built up of the soldiers' lances and cooking kettles. Seven or eight lances are placed under the handles of a number of kettles and fastened by means of ropes to form a raft. A sufficient number of these rafts, each of which will bear the weight of half a ton, are fastened together, and in the space of half an hour a bridge is formed on which an army may cross in confidence and safety.

Mackay's Sarcastic Wit.

Once when the press in the Carson City Appeal had just started to run, John Mackay rushed into the editorial sanctum and called to Sam Davis in an excited tone of voice: "Sam, stop the press! Stop the press!" "What's the matter, John?" Davis asked in alarm. "Why, old man Crooks" (Crooks for his stinginess)—"old man Crooks has just presented a peck of apples to the orphan's home, and he'll be broken hearted if you don't have a column and a half about it in the paper this afternoon."

Not One.

"Just one," said the lover as he stood upon the stoop with his girl; "just one."

"Just 1," said the mother, putting her head out of the bedroom window above. "Well, I guess it ain't so late as that, but it's pretty near 12, and you'd better be going or her father will be down." And the lover took his leave with a sad pain at his heart.

Not Ready.

An editor, replying to certain rumors as to his financial condition, says: "The statement that we are about to fail is without foundation. We haven't money enough for that—not yet!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Snaphelon.

Once give your mind to suspicion and there will be sure to be food enough for it. In the stillest night the air is filled with sounds for the wakeful ear that is resolved to listen.

Poe's Third Eyes.

Poe's neck was rather long and slender and made him appear, when sitting, rather taller than he really was. He also appeared when sitting to have a gentle and rather graceful taper of the bust and shoulders upward. This was very peculiar. His eyes were of a neutral violet tint, rather inclining to hazel, and shone out with a dazzling or brilliant sparkle, but rather with a mildly subdued serenity of intellectual splendor—perhaps on account of the dark shadow cast upon them by the overhanging and rather impressive cloud of his moonlike brow—giving them that soft, celestial glow of soul which characterizes the loftiest enthusiasm. Their lashes were long, dark and silken, hanging over them like willows napping (?) by the moon—lake—or cumuli of chaos over the God suffused waters of the eternal wells. When the heaven of his brow was free from clouds—which appeared always to be the case when his soul was not racked either by the thoughts of his poverty, of the remembrance of the manifold insults he had received from anonymous correspondents, who pestered him from envy of his genius and his uncompromising hostility to the basest ignorance—the intellectual placidity of his mildly becoming eyes was beautiful.—Poe-Chiver Papers in Century.

"No Kick Coming."

A railroad engineer who has been in the service so many years that his hair has grown iron gray and his visage as stern as a warrior's while he has driven his iron monster over the parallels of iron recently experienced his first collision. He came out of it with a badly demolished engine and a sufficiently smashed up leg for any occasion.

The surgeons took him in charge and by dint of splints, bandages, skill and patience saved his injured limb and got it on the road to recovery.

The other day he walked out for the first time, and as he hobbled along on crutches, the injured member looking very unyielding indeed, a friend hailed him with: "Hello, Jim! How's that leg of yours getting along?"

The veteran has gray eyes, as clear and penetrating as a youth's, and they twinkled with a tonic effect as he said, laconically:

"Oh, I can't kick!"—New York Times.

The Loss of a Horseshoe.

The loss of a horseshoe exerted a tremendous influence in the history and reign of Henry VIII. of England. After the fall of Anne Boleyn the papacy prepared overtures of reconciliation so favorable to the king that he concluded to accept them. A representative was sent from Rome with the dispatches, and when only a day's journey from Calais the horse cast a shoe and fell lame. As the horse was a favorite animal, the messenger determined to wait for a day rather than take the chances of losing the horse. The next day the journey was resumed and London was reached, to find that Henry that day had been married to Jane Seymour, a Protestant, that Anne had been beheaded the day before, and all hope of a reconciliation was lost. The messenger was a day too late, and the horseshoe had changed the bent of the nation's history.

Weeping Trees.

In the forests of Oregon, Washington, Montana and British Columbia there is a species of tree that has a continuous and copious dripping of pure, clear water from the ends of its leaves and branches. This extraordinary sight may be witnessed at all seasons when the leaves are on and seems equally plentiful on clear, bright days as on damp, cloudy nights. The tree is a species of fir, and the "weeping" phenomenon is attributed to a remarkable power of condensation peculiar to the leaves and bark of this species of evergreen.

In the island of Ferro there are many species of "weeping trees," but in this latter case the "tears" appear to be most abundant when the relative humidity is near the dew point.

Strange Ideas of Beauty.

Babies in Pundjab have the back of the head flattened artificially by their mothers, and as another mark of beauty their noses are sharpened and a dimple formed on their chin. The head is flattened by making the child sleep with it on the hard soil or inside an earthenware pot. Each day the mother presses the nose with her fingers to make it long and pointed and indents the chin with a stem. In some cases the legs are straightened by means of bands. In America the Chinooks flatten the forehead.

His Fad.

She—Have you heard the news? Mc-Solomon is to marry again, the fourth time, I believe.

He—Yes, I've heard about it. Beats all how the rage for collecting will take hold of a man. Sometimes it's old books or playbills and sometimes it's postage stamps. In McSolomon's case it appears to be wives.—Boston Transcript.

Good Shooting in Cambridge.

Years ago when Bret Harte, fresh from the Pacific slope, heard the list of famous men living at Cambridge he said to Mr. Howells:

"Why, you couldn't fire a revolver from your front porch anywhere without bringing down a two volume!"

Altogether.

"How many are there in your family?"

"Seven altogether, but we're scattered all over the United States."—Baltimore American.

Why has no religion this command before all others: Thou shalt work?—Auerbach.

Pecan Hounds in Kentucky.

In the Kentucky bottom lands along the lower Ohio and its tributaries the apple orchards and "sugar bush" are things of tradition, says the Indianapolis News. Their places have been taken by the pecan, which yields a much greater revenue. The pecan orchard is usually distributed throughout one of those immense cornfields of several hundred acres that formed the antebellum plantations. Here they are enriched by constant cultivation as well as by the fertilizer from the overflow of the Ohio that occurs always once and frequently oftener a season. The pecan season opens special festivities. Society in the neighboring towns and cities takes it up most enthusiastically with pecan "tours," picnics, dinners—in truth, all varieties of fetes that such ingenuity can originate. The right to gather the nuts is purchased and a professional climber hired. A woods dinner is the most pleasing feature of the occasion—bacon, chicken, broiled on a spit before a fragrant fire; Irish potatoes and the real, old fashioned red sweets, onions baked in a crater of hot coals, kimmel rye bread, roasted cheese, gingerbread and crabapple cider from the farmhouse.

Three Curious Words.

Filibuster, freebooter and buccaneer are words curiously interrelated. The French and the English sea adventurers once made common cause against Spanish settlements in the new world, and all three of these words came in time to describe the rude sea soldiers who despoiled the Spanish main and the towns upon the coasts of the Spanish possessions. Filibuster is said to be the result of an attempt to make a French word of freebooter, and the English borrowed it back from the French because it sounded less frankly brutal than the English word.

Buccaneer was originally French in form, and it meant at first one who hunted the boucan or wild cattle and hogs of the West Indies; then one who made jerked meat of their flesh, and finally, because this meat was used to provision the ships of the sea rovers, a filibuster or freebooter.

Hunting the Wild Boar.

In Germany the boar hunt occurs annually. Trained hounds are held in leash until the lair of the boars is sniffed, and then they are let go. Off rush the bristling beasts. They run fast and the faster they skip along the wilder they are "madder" they get. Sometimes they are shot, but the correct style of killing is to use a long spear or a short swordlike knife. The hunter spies his boarship speeding along in an almost straight line, blinded with rage and ferocity. Bending over sideways to the earth, the sportsman thrusts his spear dull end downward in the soil and the sharp point slanting upward and turned directly to the boar's path. Straight on the wild hog rushes, and with all the impetus of his long flight he plunges upon the spear point and there, impaled, dies a bloody death.

"Ich dien" or "Eich Dyn."

"Ich dien," the motto which belongs to the Prince of Wales, is usually translated "I serve," and tradition has it that it was taken by the Black Prince from the royal helmet of the blind king of Bohemia, who was killed on the field of Crecy. It is a notable fact, however, that the late Dr. William Hume, professor of English literature at Heidelberg, rejected this theory. He held that the motto was of Welsh origin and took its rise at the time when Edward I. presented his newborn eldest son to the Welsh chieftains at Carnarban castle as their future sovereign. He held the child up in his arms and exclaimed in Welsh, "Eich dyn," meaning "this is your man." The explanation is accepted by many antiquarians.

Hats in London.

No stranger can do business in London without a silk hat. It is the style from Monday to Saturday to wear this kind of head covering, with a frock coat, and on Sunday to appear in a "boulder" (the conventional derby) and a sack. Cutaways are much worn with silk hats, and not infrequently dressy men are seen in the outlandish combination of silk hat and sack.—New York Press.

How Ships Are Named.

French ships are usually named after French provinces or towns, victories, ideas or sentiments, but no French names, excepting those of great men in their history, are made use of. German ships bear the names of German rivers, ports, poets, states and characters in German literature. Spanish ships are almost invariably named after their cities or great commanders.

Parents.

Here is a little gem clipped from a small boy's essay on parents: "Parents are things which boys have to look after or them. Most girls also have parents. Parents consist of pas and mas. Pas talk a good deal about what they are going to do, but mostly it's the mas that make you mind."

The Easy Way.

A schoolboy, being asked by his teacher how he should flog him, replied:

"If you please, sir, I should like it upon the Italian system of penmanship—the upward stroke heavy and the down one light."

The Trouble in Arguing.

Nine out of ten persons with whom you argue say, "But you don't understand!" That's what you think about them—they don't understand.—Athenian Globe.
